UNION PACIFIC DEAL.

Ex-Attorney General Harmon

Defends Himself.

THINKS HE ACTED WISELY.

He Declares That It Was Absolutely

Necessary to File Separate Suits,

Although Disadvantages

Were Plain.

Cincinnati, Oct. 29.—Judge Judeon

Harmon, who was attorney general

under the last administration of President Cleveland, gave out the following statement regarding the proposed sale of the Union Pacific railway.

Among the criticisms of the Union Pacific situation it is publicly declared by some that the foreclosure of the government's lien on the main line and of that on the Kansas Pacific line should have been in a single suit, and that possible loss by breaking up the unity of the properties might have been avoided by afterward consolidating the several suits.

This statement is wholly unfounded. As the property is in seven different states and judicial districts, a separate suit had to be brought in each. The disadvantage of this to the government was plain from the start. Accordingly, in a bill for a settlement prepared at the request of congress by Mr. Olney, he inserted a provision authorizing foreclosure of all the government's lines in a single suit, if suit should become necessary. The bill failed and this provision was dropped.

In the attorney general's report for 1895 it was stated that the government was opposed to the sale of the property as follows: "As it may become advisable or necessary for the government to sell the property, it proceeding against one or both of the companies above named, it is a legal property of the government to sell the property in the District of Columbia and a jurisdiction of the entire property and of all the parties in interest.

It is not been here before and as to the general necessity of giving one court full jurisdiction in such cases applies with special force here. Such a provision was included in the bill prepared by Attorney

General Olney at the request of the last congress (S. R. 1894, p. 20).

It should now be put in the form of separate acts so as to be made independent of any part of the plan of reorganization. Until the passage of such an act any attempt of the government to protect its rights by litigation will be greatly hampered.

A general law for all like cases was recommended in 1894. The attorney general followed his report by preparing a bill which was introduced by both Senators

Morgan and Hoke on Dec. 20, 1895 (Fifty fourth congress, first session, Vol. 25, Record pp. 248, 249). It was not passed, although it was again recommended (Report 1896 p. 25).

Consequently, when the president directed foreclosure, provided the two common fares of junior liens could be avoided by a guaranty, as he had proposed to do in his message of Dec. 7, 1894 (Second session, fifty fourth congress, p. 1) in case congress should fail to act the necessity of separate suits could not be avoided.

The guaranty secured by a large deposit of money secured to the government, instead of the second lien in the distribution of proceeds of sale, at least the principal of all its bonds and more than half the interest, which ran at 6 per cent for 30 years, and unlike the principal, was not invested in the property, but went to the bondholders.

To make this guaranty good required a

Evidence which is Right to the Point and Reliable.

Judge Frank Ives of District Court of Crookston, Minn., says: For some time I have used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets with seeming great benefit, with few exceptions. I have not been so free from indigestion in twenty-five years.

George W. Roosevelt, U. S. Consul to Brussels, Belgium: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, safe, pleasant to take, convenient to carry, give keen appetite, perfect digestion.

Mr. W. D. Tomlin, Mechanical Engineer, Duluth, Minn.: One box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets has done its work and I am again gaining flesh and strength.

O. E. Ransom, Hustonville, Ky.: I was distressed and annoyed for two years with throwing up food, often two or three times a day; had no certainty of retaining a meal if I ate one. Four boxes of the tablets from my druggist have fully cured me. I had them pleasant to take, convenient to carry.

Rev. G. D. Brown, Mondovi, Wis.: The effect of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is simply marvelous; a quite hearty dinner of broiled beef steak causes no distress since I began their use.

Over six thousand people in the state of Michigan alone in 1894 were cured of stomach troubles by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Full-sized packages may be found at all druggists at 50 cents. Send for little book on stomach diseases, mailed free by Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

In the matter of the case pending in Mayor D. E. Baxter's court at Delphos, October 22, at 9 a. m., and entitled "The State of Ohio, plaintiff, vs. James Lockrage, defendant," there came a sudden stop at the hour and place named, by the state withdrawing the suit and agreeing to pay costs. It appeared that the State of Ohio was suspicious of Mr. Lockrage and thought perhaps that he had violated the Ohio game and fish laws, but did not have sufficient evidence.

The demagogue politician is the man who seeks to gratify an insatiable selfishness by seeking the public good. He thinks there is a time for everything, and therefore at one time he jeers and swears and at other times professing conversion, he displays all the various features of devotion. Indeed, he is an epitome of faith. Such are the shadows that some of our Republican friends in Marion are preventing, but the wise will resent their actions at the polls and help to knock out the "whole push."

READ, MARK, LEARN!

Some Pertinent Questions that can all be Answered with One Reply.

Why is it that in Lima and its suburbs, with a combined population of 10,000, there is only one medicinal preparation which gives statements from residents to back up its claims?

Why is it that Doan's Kidney Pills do this in Lima, as well as in every other city and town of any importance in the United States? Why is it that there are advertised in every newspaper a dozen remedies and only one can supply local proof, local indorsement of its claims? The solution of the problem is simple. Only one remedy has the curing and the satisfying power. Other remedies make all kinds of gigantic yet futile efforts to get local proof, but the attempt ends in producing a statement or two from places that as far as Lima is concerned might as well be in the moon. Here in Lima proof which backs up the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills: Mrs. Wm. Boynton, residing at No. 126 S. Pierce St., went to W. M. Melville's drugstore at No. 147 N. Main St. and procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. Read her experience: "I had kidney trouble for over ten or twelve years. During all that time I suffered more or less with dizzy pains in my head, aching in my kidneys, with pains shooting upwards towards my shoulders or downward through my hips. I could usually sleep well, but after extra exertion or excitement my back ached nights and prevented me from sleeping. There was too frequent action of the kidney secretions and I had to get up many times during the night. Mornings I was tired out and there was such soreness and lameness in my back. Doan's Kidney Pills did me the most good of anything I ever used. I can sleep well at night now and I have not that lingering pain in my back. I have no objection to your using my name as one who can, from my own experience, highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and vouch for their being what they are represented."

KEMPTON.

The citizens of Kempton and vicinity were intelligently entertained by addresses by B. F. Welty and C. H. Adkins. Mr. Welty was first introduced, and for one hour he addressed the large audience on the leading question of the day. He said that in 1873 there were eight mortgages foreclosed in Allen county, and in 1893, the Cleveland panic year, forty-eight, and in 1897, up to date, first year of McKinley's boom, sixty-three. He presented all the qualities of an orator, his elocution and language being exact.

C. H. Adkins was next introduced. He began by showing a bundle of campaign literature which Marcus the Fat had sent to him in an official letter, avoiding the paying of postage. He then discussed the "prosperity has arrived" talk, and demonstrated beyond doubt that the assertion was false, and that the condition of our people is growing more burdensome.

His discourse lasted an hour and a half and was solid argument on the various issues of the day. He would bring in a witty story that would bring down the house with applause.

The audience remained throughout the meeting hours, listening with attentive ear, and accepting the many truths with welcome.

We can say, to the honor of both speakers, that they are orators of more than ordinary ability, and that Kempton will gladly welcome them back again. Mr. Adkins has made several speeches in the western part of the county and has met a hearty welcome at every place.

Republicans will not be as numerous after next Tuesday as usual.

Attention

Oil Men!

'HOW TO SAVE TIME ON DRILLING WELLS!'

You must know there is a new power from your belt slipping. Well, as an oil man that is so can you. If you will use GREEN SEAL BELT DRESSING on your belts.

Read what these oilmen say:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 20, '97.

Your Dressing is just the thing; it covers wear on machinery and with it we can run a belt that would wear in two if we had to make it tight enough to hold without the Dressing. It is not a good thing for belt manufacturers, but it is a "DAILY" for the users of belts. Besides we have no slipping now.

Grippe Cured.

"Last winter I had a bad cold and severe cough. I was lame in every joint and muscle. I was sick and felt as though I was coming down with typhoid fever. It was no doubt a bad case of grippe. Mr. E. P. Budge gave me a bottle of Brazilian Balm, saying he was sure it would help me. The relief was almost instantaneous. It quickly stopped my cough and took the grippe with all the pains and soreness out of my system. I gave the balance of the 50-cent bottle to Mrs. Bishop Wiley for her daughter. It proved so beneficial she says she never intends to be without it."—Edwin Fitz Jones, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Warren Clark, of Bluffton, one of the most prominent Foraker Republicans in Allen county, a few days ago offered a bet that Charles Adkins would have a majority of 3,000 next Tuesday. And he found no one rash enough to take his bet.

If Bryan's cause is a lost one and free silver is a dead issue, why did those thousands of people fill the town of Van Wert to overflowing Wednesday, to hear the champion of last year's magnificent campaign discuss the subject of free silver?

Mr. George Taylor, the English gentleman who is running for surveyor on the Republican ticket, has issued a royal decree ordering people to vote for him for surveyor. Upon a high board fence on west North street he has had the field of the English colors painted, and upon that, in flaming letters, has issued his orders to the voters as to what they must do on election day.

6 GALLANTRY LANGUISHING!

Observations on the decline of Street Car Manners in the South.

It cannot be concealed that there is a growing tendency even in the south, where masculine gallantry has held out longest, on the part of men to let women in the street wrestle for themselves. It has not come to that point yet, but the movement is on in that direction.

It is a fact that men are rapidly failing in the courtesy which was once uniformly shown to women, and the reason to a large extent, is that men are meeting women as competitors in all fields of labor, and this fact vastly changes the social relations between the sexes. Women are claiming all sorts of equality with men—moral, political and physical—and are declaring more and more their independence. The effect on the next generation will be very marked and peculiar. The men and women of the present are affected to an overpowering extent by the influence of old ideas and training, and that is the reason they talk about street car manners and social ethics in their relations to the sexes, but in the year 1930, or the period of one generation from the present time, people will no longer concern themselves about such matters.

The greater the number of women at work in proportion to the men the more stringent the competition, and it can easily be seen that, according to the figures shown, the day might come when there would be no street car manners, but every individual would look out for himself or herself, as the case may be. But even should chivalry be extinguished from human manners there will always remain the Christian grace of charity, so in the time to come able-bodied young men and women who have seats in the cars will rise to give their places to old men and women and to others who may be sick or disabled.

ALL THE OX UTILIZED.

Every Particle Put to Use—Only Its Dying Breath Lost.

In an article on the "Wonders of the World's Waste," William George Jordan, in The Ladies' Home Journal, details how science at the present day utilizes the ox. "Not many years ago," he says, "when an ox was slaughtered 40 per cent of the animal was wasted. At the present time nothing is lost but its dying breath." As but one-third of the weight of the animal consists of products that can be eaten, the question of utilizing the waste is a serious one. The blood is used in refining sugar and in sizing paper or manufactured into doorknobs and buttons. The hide goes to the tanner; horns and hoofs are transformed into combs and buttons; thigh bones, worth $80 per ton, are cut into handles for clothes-brushes; fore leg bones sell for $30 per ton for collar buttons, parasol handles and jewelry; the water in which bones are boiled is reduced to glue, the dust from sawing the bones is food for cattle and poultry; the smallest bones are made into bone-black. Each foot yields a quarter of a pint of neatfoot oil; the tail goes to the "soup," while the brush of hair at the end of the tail is sold to the mattress maker. The choicer parts of the fat make the basis of butterine; the intestines are used for sausage casings or bought by gold beaters. The undigested food in the stomach, which formerly cost the packers of Chicago $30,000 a year to remove and destroy, is now made into paper. There are but a few of the products of abattoirs. All scraps unfit for any other use find welcome in the glue pot, or they do missionary work for farmers by acting as fertilizers.

Pa's Prayers.

Once upon a time sickness came to the family of the poorly paid pastor of a country church, says the Omaha World-Herald. It was winter, and the pastor was in financial straits. A number of his flock decided to meet at his house and offer prayers for the speedy recovery of the sick ones and for material blessings upon the pastor's family. While one of the deacons was offering a fervent prayer for blessings upon the pastor's household there was a loud knock at the door. When the door was opened, a stout farmer boy was seen, wrapped up comfortably.

"What do you want, boy?" asked one of the elders.

"I've brought pa's prayers," replied the boy.

"Brought pa's prayers? What do you mean?"

"Yep, brought his prayers, an they're out in the wagon. Just help me, an we'll get 'em in."

Investigation disclosed the fact that "pa's prayers" consisted of potatoes, flour, bacon, cornmeal, turnips, apples, warm clothing and a lot of jollies for the sick ones. The prayer meeting adjourned in short order.

Curls Tell the Story.

When a woman is young, she does her hair up with many curls and flourishes, but the curls and flourishes disappear as time rolls on and after she has been married a few years it is worn in a hard little knot in the back, showing neither time nor attention. Her hair is also a great thermometer to her feelings. As long as she has social ambitions she curls it though the steak burns. When an old girl who has worn her hair plain for years begins suddenly to curl it again, look for a fight in her parlor on Sunday evenings.—At home Globe.

THE SILVER CAUSE IS NOT DEAD

laborers of free America to a level with that of the land of pensioned and oppressed mendicants.

Mrs. Gougar stated that the land question was another of the many questions of vital importance to the nation. She did not discuss the point to any great length, but when she declared that if she could, for one moment, dictate the policy of our government, that she would say that so alien shall own a foot of land under the stars and stripes, she struck the key note to the patriotic sentiment of her auditors, and was compelled to cease speaking until a storm of applause had passed.

Before passing to the money question Mrs. Gougar announced that the meeting was an open one and anyone present had a right to speak. She said that if she made one statement that was untrue or exaggerated she invited anyone, in justice to herself and her audience, to correct her. "First," she said, "if there is any man present who can give a reason why England should dominate in the financial policy of this country let him speak now or forever hold his peace." She presented a simple, yet forcible, illustration of the money question, and if there was a gold standard advocate present who could not understand it he must admit that he is one of the men whom W. O. Bryan would refer to as of the sawdust head. She explained that the mint value of coin has nothing whatever to do with the bullion value from which it is coined, and elaborated upon the absurdity of the Republican claim that the silver dollar is a 50-cent dollar. "They want to place this nation upon the same financial basis that is practiced by Great Britain," said the speaker, "and let me tell you something of the social condition of that nation, for I have investigated it for myself. One-fifth of all England's population die in the poorhouse, and that is what our nation will be brought to if we do not strike the hand of England from our throat."

Mrs. Gougar spoke for two hours and her address was in every way an able one.

THE EVENING MEETING

A MAGNIFICENT ONE WITH ORATORY THAT WAS GRAND IN THE EXTREME.

The evening meeting was one that will long be remembered by those who were present and heard some of the best speeches that were ever heard in Allen county on any subject of political economy. The attendance was all that the spacious hall could possibly accommodate and while awaiting the arrival of the speakers the south side band rendered excellent music which received merited applause. At 7:30 o'clock chairman Bidenour called the meeting to order and introduced Hon. William T. Mooney, whose popularity was evidenced by the continued applause with which he was received upon entering the hall and upon being announced as the first speaker. Before Mr. Mooney was presented, however, it must not be forgotten that J. E. Drennen, of the south side, captured the big audience with a song of his own composition, entitled "We Would Like To, But England Won't Let Us." Mr. Drennen sang the song without an accompaniment, but with good effect, and the deplorable truthfulness of his verses were fully appreciated by the audience.

JUDGE W. T. MOONEY.

The address of Hon. W. T. Mooney was brief and to the point. He spoke on the money question with a clear, pertinent argument, and was frequently interrupted with applause. In referring to Mark Hanna's claim, that the silver cause was dead, he remarked that if Mr. Hanna was to come to Lima he would have to go to Kiondyke to get warm.

At the close of his remarks, Judge Mooney paid an eloquent tribute to Hon. William J. Bryan, the gallant and patriotic leader of the people, for whom, he said, "we are running a recruiting office. We do not want thirty-day men; we do not want ninety-day men; but three year men, or until the war is over and the will and rights of the people shall prevail."

HON. J. R. SOVEREIGN.

The second speaker of the evening was the man who is idolized by organized labor the world over; an eloquent, grand speaker, whose voice has never been raised in behalf of any cause unless he honestly believed and knew it to be the cause intended to uplift labor and promote the social conditions of the struggling masses, and the unjust and uncalled for insult the Republican Gazette cast at him in this morning's issue was low and deplorable, and a disgrace to journalism that should be rebuked by honest tellers. That Hon. J. R. Sovereign is loved and respected by the laboring men was manifested by the storm of enthusiastic applause with which the hundreds of laboring men received the distinguished guest when he was introduced, and by the hearty cheers that echoed and re-echoed through the throats of honest laborers when the speaker struck one powerful blow after another at the political vitals of that labor crusher, Mark Hanna, before whom the Gazette is now groveling in the dust.

Mr. Sovereign's masterly eloquence last night was directed principally to the workingmen. He told of the coercion that was practiced upon the working classes in Chicago during the last national campaign. He was stationed in Chicago at the time and saw the workingmen waver and fall before the crushing hand of the money power that stood between them and right. He knew that the workingman voted wrong and was responsible for the evil he brought upon himself, but when he was compelled by employers to defeat William Jennings Bryan or permit his family to starve, what could he do? Mr. Sovereign made a grand appeal to the patriotism, loyalty and bravery of the working class to stand firm for their honest convictions and vote accordingly. In a parting shot at Hanna he said: "Mr. Hanna poses as a friend of organized labor—a representative of the laboring man. My friends, M. A. Hanna represents organized labor just as much as Jesse James represented a Sunday school class when he was alive."

HON. CHARLES A. TOWNE.

The address delivered by Hon. Charles A. Towne, the silver Republican and ex-congressman from Minnesota, was a grand treat of oratory, the equal of which few audiences in Lima have ever had the good fortune to hear, and it is unfortunate indeed that the reading public cannot be given his able and patriotic address in full.

Mr. Towne is called a bolter by the Republicans, but with the text book of the Republican campaign in 1892 as his argument, he convinced his audience last night that, as regards the money question, he stands to-day upon the same plank that the Republican party stood upon in '92. He told how he witnessed, during his last year in congress, the birth of the financial policy that was adopted in the Republican National convention at St. Louis; how the clause of the platform relating to perpetuation of the single gold standard was framed and written in Wall street by representatives of millionaire banking firms and was carried to the St. Louis convention in the inside pocket of Thomas O. Platt. He challenged contradiction to any of his statements and said he was ready and willing to prove his assertions. Mr. Towne is a modern statesman whose earnest efforts in a good cause will be recorded in history, and when Hon. J. R. Sovereign announced that his ticket in 1900 would be William Jennings Bryan and Charles A. Towne the building quaked with an outburst of applause.

With a brief address by Mrs. Gougar the meeting, the greatest of this campaign in Allen county, closed at 11 o'clock.

Given Away by Rumbaugh to Young Men to Help Swell the Bluffton Crowd.

Chas Rumbaugh, one of the high chiefs in the Hanna-Hall tribe of this county exerted his efforts yesterday to drum up a crowd to go to the Bluffton meeting to hear Davies and thus draw the people away from the silver meeting at this place. But his efforts counted for about as much as they will next Tuesday. Rumbaugh desired some people who had good lungs and a strong voice to go to the Bluffton meeting. He had five young colored men under his wing, but they did not like a Hanna meeting well enough to pay their own fare. Rumbaugh accompanied them to the L. E. & W. station, purchased the tickets and remarked to the boys that they "should make things warm at Bluffton." They tried their best to arouse the crowd but the corpse was too cold and the boys left in despair.

"Shanty Town."

Ople Read, who is the author of Stuart Robson's big success, the "Jockline," is also the author of the comedy, "Shanty Town," and he says in his letters to the public and press that he has put in his brightest work in "Shanty Town," and in his opinion it will make a big hit, because "Tom Hawn," who is the star of the play, is an exceptionally fine Irish character comedian, and in his particular line should be placed on a par with James Hearn and Edward Harrigan. "Shanty Town," with a car load of special scenery and a very strong cast, will be seen at the opera house Monday night.

SAD FATE.

The New York newspapers recently published the details of the suicide of a society woman who became crazed by headache and drowned herself in the harbor. What a sad end to a life that ought to have been completely happy!

Doubtless the advanced science could have saved her. Munyon has a specific for all kinds of headache, which cures in three minutes and leaves no depressing effects. One or two doses will stop Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Headache from Indigestion, Nervousness, Overwork, Colds, Impatience, or Railroad or Ocean Travel.

In striking contrast to the above sad case is that of Mrs. E. Hardin, 8309 Germantown Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., wife of the Clerk of the Board of Education, who says: "For thirty years I suffered with sick headache, which appeared in attacks of severe pain, so intense that I was obliged to remain in bed for days at a time. These attacks appeared almost every week, and at no time did I ever receive relief, although I consulted the most skilled physicians in the city. The headache seemed to wear them out and then come on anew. At last I was induced to try Munyon's Headache Cure. The relief was magical and almost instantaneous. I followed the treatment and was completely cured—for three years have passed and I have had no return of the headache. I have recommended Munyon's Remedy to a number of my friends, and I have received their most sincere thanks for many wonderful cures that have been accomplished by these little pellets."

Professor Munyon has a separate specific for each disease, the only logical system of medicine.

NO LIFE ON THE MOON

GREAT YERKES TELESCOPE PROVES FRENCH ASTRONOMERS WRONG.

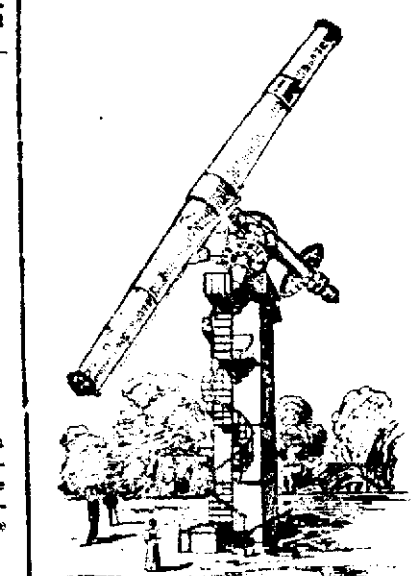

Most Powerful Instrument of All Brings Out Many New Details. Scientists Look For First Time Through the Greatest Lens in the World.

Neither water, nor air, nor vegetation, nor evidence of life in any form can be seen on the moon through the Yerkes telescope, which is the most powerful one ever constructed. The first observations through this telescope were made recently at the Yerkes observatory.

"The moon is a magnificent sight seen through the Yerkes telescope," said Mr. Barnard, "one can see an immense number of small details never seen before, such as small craters and minute crevasses, but there are no traces of air or vegetable life to be detected. It is possible that the lines found on the photographs taken at the Meudon observatory in France might be crevasses. I don't pretend to say what they represent. I only know that the observations taken at the Yerkes observatory fail to give any confirmation of the theories of the Parisian astronomers."

The reported discoveries at the French observatory aroused the interest of the astronomers who are gathered at the Yerkes observatory, but none of them is ready to give any indorsement of the theory that life prevails in any form in the moon.

"There are just as good photographs taken through small instruments as with large ones," said George E. Hale, director of the Yerkes observatory.

"Professor Lowy, director of the Paris observatory, has undoubtedly made the best photographs of the moon, but the best photographs ever made will not show as much as can be seen through a 12 inch telescope. The lines noticed in the photographs of the Meudon observatory have always been noticed, and no astronomer has yet ventured to assert that they represent active rivers."

The discoveries by French scientists mentioned by the scientists at the Yerkes observatory were described in a recent letter from Paris, which said in part:

"The questions now agitating the scientists of Paris are: Are there water and air on the moon? Do rivers and vegetation exist on the satellite of the earth, which for years astronomers have supposed to be a dead and colorless world? Maps of the lunar planisphere taken in the new observatory at Meudon show peculiar lines, markings and shadows that have never before appeared in telescopic pictures of the moon's surface."

"The new observatory at Meudon, so far as concerns physical astronomy, is said to be the best equipped in the world and has the largest double telescope arranged for taking stereoscopic and photographic views that has ever been made. The new establishment at Meudon will greatly facilitate the preparation of the detailed lunar photographs which the observatory hopes to have ready in time for the exhibition of 1909. At the same time a monster telescope, 200 feet long, is being constructed for the exhibition, which, it is calculated, will be of such a power as to bring the moon to an apparent distance of 40 miles."

"The photograph is also the largest ever taken. Already astronomers are vividly interested in certain lines and spots on the new photographs, which have again caused the question to be raised of the existence of air, water and vegetation on the moon, which science has for many months had pronounced a dead planet."

"It seems that a minute examination reveals a number of narrow and winding lines, having every appearance of a river seen from a balloon at a height of four or five miles. They seem, however, to be larger at the source and to grow narrower as they progress. Yet there are several terrestrial rivers like that, having their origin in a big lake and flowing through arid regions."

"It is on these indications that the presence of water in the moon, and consequently of an atmosphere, is beginning to be reaffirmed."—New York Herald.

Her Terra Cotta Cat.

Some years ago an English lady who was in Egypt bought a terra cotta cat which she with her own eyes saw excavated from a pile of ruins. She was very proud of her possession and took the best possible care of it. A little while ago it was knocked down and broken, and she found the head stuffed with English papers of comparatively recent date.—New York Tribune.

Retrospective Announcement.

Somewhere the other day found a so-called bachelor maid dispatching an announcement of her betrothal. "My declaration of dependence," explained the bachelor maid.—New York Sun.

SUMATRA TOBACCO KING.

"Father" of the Popular American Five Cent Cigar.

The man who by proxy is the father of the five cent cigar that is smoked every day by millions of Americans is Hendrick Janssen of Amsterdam, the dictator of the world's Sumatra tobacco market. It was he who discovered the value of Sumatra leaf as "wrappers" for cigars filled not only with American but Havana tobacco.

Mr. Janssen, while not the discoverer of the fact that the island of Sumatra produced a very superior leaf tobacco, one curiously well fitted for use as cigar wrappers, was the first to appreciate the value of the discovery—made by a countryman of his—and to encourage the wider and better cultivation of the plant in Sumatra. It was he who broke the domination of the Havana planters in the cigar trade. It was he who made it possible for the tobacco smoker of ordinary means to procure a cigar of excellence at a price that fitted his purse. Today the larger proportion of cigars smoked all over the world are wrapped with the smooth, fine reined leaf grown on the island of Sumatra. It is that leaf that made it possible to utilize American grown tobacco in the manufacture of "domestic" cigars, and it was its introduction to this country that laid the foundation for the immense domestic cigar trade, a trade which employs thousands of men and in which millions of American capital are invested.

A correspondent of The Tobacco Journal visited Mr. Janssen in Amsterdam. He found him occupying a very modest—almost shabby—office and dwelling in a home as unostentatious as that of his junior clerk, despite the fact that he is a "merchant prince" in Amsterdam, one of the richest cities in the world.

At the farthest corner, near the window, stood a desk, and from that desk rose at my entrance a figure strong, massive, though slightly stooped, with snow white hair and flowing white whiskers trimmed in English style, the correspondent writes. It was Mr. Janssen, whose name is mentioned at Amsterdam with almost breathless reverence, as if it were that of a saint.

Asked to tell the secret of his success, Mr. Janssen said: "It is comprised in one word, confidence." When Mr. Nienhuys, the discoverer of the possibility of raising an unsurpassable leaf on the island of Sumatra returned to Amsterdam with his secret, but no means of exploiting it, he approached me and laid the project before me. 'Go back,' I said to him, 'and draw on me for whatever you may need.' Mr. Nienhuys stood speechless at my offer. I repeated it. He then hesitatingly said: 'But you don't know me, Mr. Janssen. I may be a mere adventurer, and in accepting your offer I might ruin you.' 'Do what I tell you,' I repeated. 'I have confidence in you that you will do what is right.'

Mr. Janssen's judgment proved correct. Mr. Nienhuys did not turn out an adventurer, but one of the most painstaking and hardworking men alive, who spent 25 years on the island of Sumatra cultivating and improving the plantations of the company. He is now a multimillionaire, enjoying the fruits of his labor in one of the many windowed palatial residences on the Heeregracht.

That Awful Dogwatch.

At sea, as people know, time, instead of being reckoned by hours, is divided into "watches" of four hours each. From 4 o'clock to 8 and 8 o'clock to midnight there are half divisions, nautically termed "dog-watches." In an insurance case the counsel asked an old sailor at what time of day a certain collision occurred and received the reply: "About the middle of the first dog-watch."

In summing up the case the barrister enlarged upon the information thus imparted as follows: "You can imagine, gentlemen, of the jury, the care which existed on this occasion when, as appears from one of the plaintiff's own witnesses, this valuable ship and her cargo and the lives of passengers and crew were entrusted to what, gentlemen? Why, to the mere watch of a dog?"—Strand Magazine.

Where Grass Is a Curiosity.

At the London county council meeting the chairman of the bridges committee stated that about 50 vehicles and 500 passengers per hour passed through the Blackwall tunnel. He incidentally remarked that a pathetic point was that children passed through to the south side of the river and carried back to the east end and that of grass as though they were curiosities.

Chronic Invalidism.

There are people who seem to enjoy being ill health; they run from one physician to another, and appear to take actual satisfaction in being told that they have this or that trouble with a high-sounding name; but these people make sickness a sad, and don't want to be well. The great struggling mass of humanity have no time for the luxury of disease; they must be in condition to fight life's battles, and illness means loss of place to them and starvation to their families; for this reason we see the pale faces going to their toil day after day, and we wonder how long before they will succumb. It is painful to see such suffering when help is at hand for the asking. The people cannot understand that the medicines of the world's most successful physicians are within reach of everybody, and that consultation, examination and advice are absolutely free of charge at the office of Dr. Greene's remedies, 145 State street, Chicago, Ill. Dr. Greene is the discoverer of the famous Nervura. If you cannot take the time to call, write and you will receive a reply, telling you what you need, and there are thousands who testify that the advice and these remedies are alike infallible. THE SILVER CAUSE IS NOT DEAD

The Grand Rally of the Democratic Hosts Was a Great Success.

MARK HANNA'S PLUTOCRATIC FORTRESS

Bombarded With Burning, Scathing Shot and Shell Fired by Mrs. Helen M. Gougar, Hon. William T. Mooney, Hon. J. R. Sovereign and Hon. Charles A. Towne—A Magnificent Meeting Addressed by Distinguished Orators.

The rally day in Allen county for free silver Democracy is what will in future be recalled to memory by history as the campaign of '97 of the advocates of the cause of the commonwealth against American despotism, plutocratic power and political reign of a representative of the classes against the masses has come and gone, but not to be forgotten. The event has not passed without leaving behind it a lasting impression upon the minds of the hundreds of Allen county's citizens, who availed themselves of the opportunity to hear the eloquent and stirring addresses that were delivered at Music Hall yesterday afternoon and last night. Those vivid word pictures that were drawn before two magnificent audiences, by some of the most distinguished orators of the nation, of the threatening, lowering cloud of despotism and political degeneration that overshadowed the broad scope of this fair republic, were not as seeds sown upon the rocks and among the thorns of a prejudiced and narrow minded people, but every word of burning fact and scathing truth that was propounded there by those guests who honored Lima with a visit, found fertile soil in the liberal judgment of their auditors and awoke an earnest sentiment of true patriotism from which another appeal from gold-bug plutocracy and boss rule for "confidence" or a vote for more Hanaism will never again win a grain of encouragement. The fact that the Democrats, Republicans, Populists and Prohibitionists who assembled at Music Hall last night, sat for three and a half hours, so many statues of the quick, except when moved in a storm of enthusiastic applause, and listened with the earnestness of the ancient Israelites to the story of their way of deliverance from bondage and oppression, told the determination of those citizens in language more forcible than words and in a manner that would have driven despair into the heart of Mark Hanna himself, could he have been present, or, to express it in the words of Hon. W. T. Mooney, would have driven him to Klondike to get warm.

To attempt to convey to the reading public even the faintest conception of the eloquence and merit of the distinguished speakers, their noble efforts and of their convincing arguments, based upon unchallenged facts and deplorable truths concerning the dangerous era through which our political policies are now passing, without devoting a page or more of this issue to their soul inspiring addresses verbatim, would be an injustice to the cause, its worthy advocates and the readers, and a farce on modern journalism. However, as it is impossible to publish the speeches in full, the only resource remaining is to be content in the fact that several hundred people were fortunate enough to be present and drink every argument with rapt attention and depend upon nature's own recorder to do justice to the speakers by perpetuating the memory of their appreciative auditors.

J. C. RIDENOUR PRESIDES.

Music Hall presented a picturesque scene when the advocates of the common people's cause assembled there yesterday afternoon. The high platform, occupied by the distinguished speakers and reception committees, was backed in front with stately palms, and in the background appeared Old Glory and excellent lithographs of Hon. William J. Bryan and Hon. Horace L. Chapman. The attendance was all that possibly could have been expected at an afternoon meeting. The floor was crowded, every chair being occupied and many persons were standing, while the balcony was comfortably filled. At 2:30 o'clock J. C. Ridenour, accompanied by Hon. S. S. Yoder, H. S. Prophet, M. L. Becker and others, escorted Hon. J. R. Sovereign, the renowned leader of the Knights of Labor of the world, to the platform, and Mr. Ridenour, with a few well chosen remarks, called the meeting to order. He announced that Mrs. Helen M. Gougar had been announced as the principal speaker for the afternoon, but as she would not arrive at the hall for twenty-five or thirty minutes, he presented Hon. J. R. Sovereign, the chief executive of the Knights of Labor of the world. Mr. Sovereign was received with continued applause, and from the moment he began his brief remarks until the afternoon meeting closed with the conclusion of Mrs. Gougar's address the audience was held in rapt attention to the remarkably interesting and impressive oratory. Mr. Sovereign did not attempt to deliver a formal address, but directed only a few random shots at the vitals of Republican corruption, to occupy the interval until the other speaker should arrive.

MRS. HELEN M. GOUGAR.

Soon Mrs. Helen M. Gougar ascended to the rostrum, and in making his closing remarks Mr. Sovereign paid a tribute of respect to her for the able and effective effort she is making in the cause of humanity, a merited compliment which Mrs. Gougar did not fail to appreciate and repay after she was presented by chairman Ridenour. Mrs. Gougar needs no introduction to the reading public. She is known in every state in the Union, and has championed many worthy causes in behalf of the common people for their social and political advancement. Upon labor questions of the age she is recognized as authority upon all conditions, because she has traveled the country over investigating the social conditions of the working man, from the Pullman car works and the Illinois steel works to the coal mines of Tennessee and gold and tin mines of California.

This was not her first appearance in Lima, she having delivered an address at Trinity Church, in this city, during the state convention of the W. C. T. U., a few years ago, and when she stepped forward upon the rostrum at Music Hall yesterday, she was greeted with the upturned faces of many Lima ladies, for whom she was the noted attraction. In advocating the cause of humanity in the Chicago platform of 1896, Mrs. Gougar does not forget that she is an earnest advocate of woman's suffrage and other principles of the W. C. T. U., and took occasion to advise the voters that they could gain an earlier victory over plutocratic domination and other social evils by enfranchising the women. At the outset of her address Mrs. Gougar announced that she was not present as a Democrat, not as a Republican, Prohibitionist or Populist, but as a citizen of our great commonwealth. She called the attention of the voters to the recent issue from the Republican national headquarters the circular letters that have been distributed to the people informing them that the election in Ohio is one of vital importance because it will determine the choice of the senator who will hold the balance of power in the legislative body at Washington, and urging the selection of Mark Hanna for that all important position that means much to American liberty and American institutions. Mrs. Gougar agreed with the circular letter, with reference to the importance of the election, but she warned the people of the awful result should a state legislature be elected that will send Mark Hanna back to the senate. As Ohio goes, so goes the great issues. If Mark Hanna is returned to the United States Senate he will hold the balance of power in that body, and will fasten the talons of the single gold standard curse so tightly upon the American people that it will be harder than ever for the common people to cast them off if another opportunity is ever offered. Mrs. Gougar appealed to the voters to seriously consider the proposition in an unprejudiced light; to do away with their party affiliations and their party prejudices and weigh the issues with independent thought and act with independent action. Other nations of the universe are looking upon us in this great strife against the gold power, and are saying that the republican form of government is a failure; that the American people cannot be trusted. She believed ours to be the grandest and highest form of government ever known, when conducted according to the just and immortal provisions of the constitution, but that it was being dragged into shame and disgrace by the modern Benedict Arnolds, who have betrayed the financial policy of this liberty-loving nation to the despotic monarchy, England, and have endeavored to reduce the social condition of the wealth producing

HENRY GEORGE DEAD

The Famous Single Tax Advocate Expired

AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS.

Made Campaign Speeches Last Night Until Nearly Midnight—Was Stricken at 3:30 This Morning and Died in Less Than Two Hours.

New York, October 29.—Henry George, the celebrated single tax advocate is dead. For several weeks past, since he received the nomination for mayor of greater New York, Mr. George has been making an active campaign, speaking in every portion of the city. As the campaign grew near the close the work became more active, and last night he made a number of speeches, returning to his hotel at 12 o'clock. He was tired but assured his wife that he was perfectly well and after a light lunch retired at 12:30 o'clock. He fell asleep at once but at 3:30 o'clock awakened his wife and complained of feeling very weak and of suffering great pain. A physician was summoned, but in spite of his most careful attention, Mr. George relapsed into unconsciousness from which he did not recover. His death occurred at 5 o'clock this morning.

OIL STOVE EXPLODES

And Causes a Small Fire at the Residence of Walter Watt, on West High Street.

The fire department was called out this afternoon by an alarm from box 74 to extinguish a fire at the residence of Walter Watt, at 940 west High street. The fire originated from the explosion of a coal oil stove. The interior of the kitchen was considerably burned, but the fire was extinguished before the department arrived.

Mr. Watt had his hand severely burned while attempting to subdue the flames.

PLANS TO BE COMPLETED

For a City Hospital—Public Meeting Sunday Evening, Nov. 7th, at Trinity M. E. Church.

The gentlemen having in charge the matter of a city hospital met last evening in the Y. M. C. A. parlors, and after discussing the subject, decided to have a public meeting called one week from next Sunday night at Trinity Methodist church. Membership cards will be provided and will be circulated among the audience for signature, pledging to give annually a donation of $1 or more. Dr. Vail and Rev. Thomson were selected to present the plans to the people at the meeting Sunday evening, Nov. 7.

Notice.

On and after Sunday, Oct. 31st, round trip rides for single fare, for this season, will be discontinued until further notice.

Also cars will run to cemetery on Sunday afternoon only when weather favorable.
